Unofficial vote count shows Randolph superintendent

By BRENT MACEY

Terrell Randolph was unofficially elected superintendent of the Hancock County School District Saturday, defeating opponent Eugene Ladner by 412 votes in a special run-off election. Randolph tallied 1,460 votes as opposed to Ladner who tallied 1,048. Final election results are expected to be determined Monday by 6 p.m. after election commissioners meet.

Randolph arrived at the Hancock County Courthouse shortly after the election totals were announced in the Board Room. He was greeted on the street by supporters who informed him he had won.

"I want to thank everyone who turned out and who worked so hard," he said. "I think in this particular election I had more help than I ever had before. I want to thank all the people who turned out."

Ladner, who was in the board room when the totals were announced, stated he wished more voters had gone to the polls.

"I'm sorry more people didn't turn out for such an important election. It was such a fine day."

"I want to congratulate all the candidates in the first election," he continued, "and I want to congratulate Mr. Randolph."

As poll boxes were brought into the courthouse, Randolph at first had a commanding lead.

However, after all except two of the 18 precincts had been counted—Pearlington and Dedaux—that lead narrowed to show Randolph ahead by only 80 votes.

The 308 votes tallied in Pearlington plus 149 votes from Dedaux increased the margin to more than 400.

Of the 18 precincts, Randolph carried 13 and Ladner took five.

The greatest margin of difference came in the precincts of Pearlington, Lakeshore, Dedaux and Diamondhead East and Diamondhead West.

Unofficial election results are listed in today's edition on page 2A.

Test Site to host NASA officials

The National Space Technology Laboratories this week will host a three-day, agency-wide NASA public affairs meeting, according to Mack Herring, NSTL public affairs officer.

Public affairs officials from NASA Headquarters in Washington, D.C. and the public affairs officers from all NASA centers will meet Monday through Wednesday at the Hancock County installation.

Brian Duff, director of NASA public affairs, will chair an agency public affairs meeting.

David Garrett, public affairs officer for the Office of Space Flight, will chair a "Space Shuttle" coordination meeting, Herring noted.

Each session will run through one and a half days.

Participants will include public affairs officers from the Ames Research Center, Moffett Field, Calif.; Dryden Flight Research Facility, Edwards, Calif.; Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md.; and Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif.

This week's event will mark the first time NSTL hosts the agency public affairs meeting.

Two juveniles sell to deputy

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Two Hancock County juveniles were arrested Friday night for the illegal sale of drugs to a deputy, according to Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson said, "Fifteen and seventeen-year-old juveniles were arrested north of the Bay St. Louis City limits when one sold marijuana and the other a controlled substance to an auxiliary deputy."

The two arrests were made by Hancock Investigator Alvin Ladner and David Murtagh, Hancock deputy.

Ladner reports one of the juveniles faces an additional charge of resisting arrest. The amount of $36 cash was used in the purchases, police say.

The two youths were turned over to the Hancock County Youth Court.

Waveland's 82-83 budget some $87,160 in the black

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Waveland's 1982-83 budget indicates the city will be $87,160 in the black at the end of the year.

The City Board of Aldermen Wednesday night approved its budget which lists $2,344,421 in expenditures and $2,431,581 in revenues for the upcoming fiscal year.

Waveland's amended 1981-82 budget reflects city revenues exceeded expenditures by $135,132.

In the last fiscal year, revenues for the city tallied $2,169,801 and expenditures were $1,034,669.

The aldermen also approved assessing 28 mills in taxes, the same as last year, on real and personal property, and vehicles.

Some $1,680,000 is expected to be generated in the upcoming fiscal year by the taxes.

Barbara Rappold, city clerk and alderman, Friday said the 28 mills includes 15 mills for the city general fund, one for the Waveland Library, two for the recreation fund, four for the state loan retirement fund and six for sewerage, water and street construction bonds.

The city clerk said she did not know exactly how monies to the various bond funds will be divided.

Rappold reported excess revenues from last year would be carried over to the same funds this year, but did not how the excess funds would be utilized.

Waveland's general fund spending increased from $893,800 last year to $1,017,160.

Increased expenditures are anticipated in wages, salaries, supplies, equipment purchases, maintenance of streets and city property, garbage collections and utilities.

Library expenses will more than double from $8,800 last year to $17,450 apparently to fund a facility expansion and renovation now underway.

The city fire protection fund will remain at $14,695 with total collections from fire insurance premium taxes being transferred to the general fund.

Recreation funding will increase $1,000 to $21,000 which includes $1,000 more for the City Civic Center which is scheduled to be renovated in a few months in a U.S. Housing and Urban Development-funded project.

But State Revenue Sharing monies will be reduced from $82,768 to $63,953. Those funds are utilized for street and sewerage maintenance.

City bond and interest fund income will increase from $72,523 to $85,652, but expenditures are reduced from $25,591 to $21,730.

State loan and retirement fund revenues are also expected to be reduced from $43,787 to $34,369 with expenditures dropping from $40,000 to $30,000.

The sewerage general obligation bond and interest fund income and expenses were reduced $430 to a projected figure of $15,525.

Revenues of the city sewer system are expected to increase from $246,000 to $271,300.

Expenditures for that fund including operation expenses, equipment purchases, payments on bonds and a transfer of funds to the general fund will increase from $179,990 last year to $269,708.

But that increase also includes a $75,000 transfer which was not deducted last year.

The city's water and gas system is expected to collect $873,200 as compared to $759,800 received last year.

In other business at the 7:30 p.m. regular meeting at City Hall, the aldermen:

—Authorized a $39 advertisement in the Mississippi National Guard year-book;

—Authorized Rappold to adjust the assessed value of property owned by Barbara Hoover on Central Avenue to value based on surrounding land;

—Authorized returning ownership of three lots in the Bay St. Louis Land and

Diamondhead armed robbery suspect apprehended by Mobile authorities

By BRENT MACEY

A man wanted in connection with a Diamondhead burglary in April 1980 is being held in the Mobile, Ala. County Jail on charges of capital murder in that state two years ago.

Ricky A. Prewitt, 24, accused of stealing $42,000 in cash and checks from the Fairway Villa Motel in Hancock County, must face Alabama charges before he is transferred to Hancock County to face charges here, Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Friday.

According to Peterson, Prewitt held a gun on Hancock County resident Woodrow Ladner during the armed robbery of the Diamondhead hotel two years ago.

Ladner, who was an accountant at Fairway Villa during the time of the robbery, was forced to lie on the floor after with his hands and feet bound.

Following Prewitt's recent arrest in Mobile, Peterson said Ladner identified Prewitt's picture in a line-up of other photographs he reviewed in the Sheriff's office Thursday.

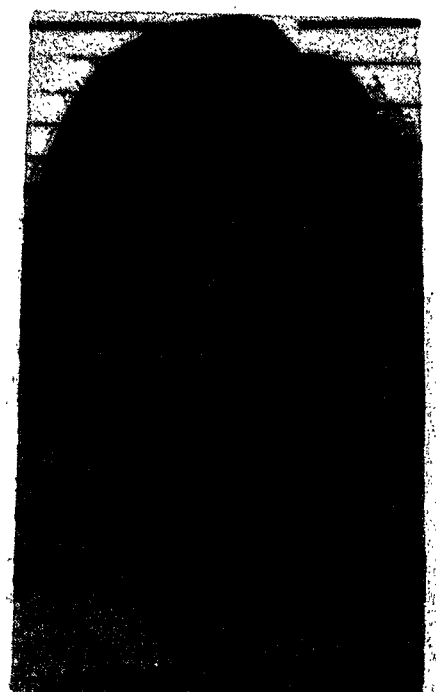

In addition to the Diamondhead robbery, Peterson said Prewitt is a "prime suspect" in the murder of Eugene Svoboda, who was found dead in a ditch along Hwy. 43 in Hancock County in March of 1981.

In that incident, Svoboda was found wrapped in a plastic garbage bag, his feet and hands were bound with and extension cord, and he had been shot through the back of the head with a small caliber gun.

Peterson said he believed Prewitt had been hired as a hit man for that murder.

"We feel Svoboda was well known in drug trafficking," Peterson said.

Governor's federal advisor to address educational forum

Donald T. Sullivan of the governor's staff will be guest speaker at a Hancock County Educational Forum Wednesday at 7 p.m. at St. Augustine Seminary Gymnasium.

Sullivan was born in Chicago, Ill. where he received his early education. He served in the United States Army Air Force during World War II, and after graduation from Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., he entered the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a special agent in 1951.

He served in all parts of the United States, and retired from the FBI in September, 1978 at Jackson, where he had been special agent in charge. In January 1980, Sullivan joined the staff of Mississippi Governor William F. Winter as director of the Department of Audit and Evaluation in the Governor's Office of Federal State Programs. Sullivan is married to the former Doris Dux. They have a son, Donald Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Majura Elliot.

The forum is a preliminary meeting to the Governor's Forum to be held Tuesday, Oct. 19 at 7 p.m. on the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College's Jackson County Campus, Pascagoula.

The Hancock County Forum will present facts on the lay Board of Education Amendment which will be on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Mississippi is one of the only three states in the nation which does not have a lay Board of Education.

Nationally, 30 states now have lay boards appointed by the governor, and there also appears to be a national trend toward having the lay board appoint the chief state school officer, according to Geraldine Lang and Dr. Brenda Scatidi, both of Bay St. Louis, local forum coordinators.

Among questions to be answered at the forum are:

What is a lay Board of Education? What is an "ex-officio" Board of Education?

Why do voters need to know about a lay Board of Education?

Why should Mississippi change to a lay Board of Education?

What are other states doing in this area?

Who would be eligible to serve on the lay Board of Education?

Would the members of the lay board be appointed and by whom?

What will the lay board's duties be under the proposed constitutional amendment?

And, why should the board and the superintendent of education be appointed?

Other topics such as curriculum improvement, compulsory school attendance and public kindergartens will be included.

For information, contact Lang at 467-9555.

Municipal School District has worked successfully for the past two years with a policy which eliminates the need for a teacher to produce a doctor's certificate.

School officials at Saturday's meeting confirmed under the new policy a teacher could accumulate the nine days per year up to thirty working days and effectively take a five and a half-week paid vacation in the middle of the school year every three years.

School board attorney Joseph Gex said, however, no more than four consecutive personal leave days may be taken at one time.

Provisions for teacher sick and personal leave are spelled out in Section 37-7-307 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, with amendments which took effect July 1, 1982.

State law provides for a minimum of five days of sick leave per year, raised to six days this year and seven days next year.

The state minimum on personal leave is one day per year this year and two days per year next year.

The law also provides school districts must allow teachers to accumulate the sick leave days to a total of 30.

No provision is made in the statute for accumulation of personal leave.

"...the superintendent of a school district may, in his discretion, allow a teacher personal leave in addition to any minimum personal leave allowance, under the condition that there shall be deducted from the salary of such teacher the actual amount of any compensation paid to any person as a substitute teacher, necessitated because of the absence of the teacher," the law states.

Paragraph Three of the Section provides a "...board of trustees may adopt rules and regulations which will reasonably aid (and) implement the (state's) policy (on) sick and personal leave..." including requirements such as doctor's certificates, or penalties for choosing elective surgery during the school year.

The law provides further, however, that "...the board of trustees may adopt rules and regulations having the following general effect: (d) Enlarging, increasing or providing greater sick or personal leave allowances than the minimum standards established in this section..."

Section 37-7-307, Amended provides "...personal leave shall not be taken on the first day of the school term, the last day of the school term, on a day previous to a holiday or a day after a holiday..."

The restriction of only four personal leave days allowable at one time cited by Gex is not spelled out in the law.

The state recommends doctor's certificates may be required for more than four days of sick leave.

And in addition, the law specifies, "Personal leave may be used for professional purposes, including absences caused by attendance of such teacher at a seminar, class, training program, professional association or other functions designed for educators."

Many such meetings may be one or two weeks in length.

"The committee felt any possible abuses of the new policy can be controlled by a school's principal," Haddock added later.

"We feel like most teachers will accumulate up to the 30 days for real emergencies, and it even will be feasible for the board to extend the 30-day maximum and thus save money on substitute teachers since teachers will continue to accumulate," Haddock added.

The school district incurs substitute teacher pay expenses of $20 per day when a regular teacher uses allowable leave.

Polk City Directory
distribution underway

The 1982 Bay St. Louis and Waveland Directory is being distributed in the local area, according to Clarice Gustin, Chamber of Commerce director.

Published by R. L. Polk & Co. of Richmond, Va., the new edition contains 8,722 names of householders and lists 650 businesses in its 475 pages.

Business and professional people use the Polk Directory in many different ways — verifying information, contacting customers, locating sources of supply, identifying new families, improving collections, and planning delivery routes.

In emergencies, police, fire and ambulance services and long distance operators frequently assist local residents through the use of Polk Directory information.

In sequence, the 1982 Polk Directory includes:

—Historical section on the area;
—Buyers' guide and classified business directory;

—Alphabetical list of residents and businesses from Lionel Abadie on Highland Drive to Bertard Zoller on Sycamore Street and ABC Rental to Zeugin and Son Appliance Service;

—Directory of householders and street guide, including telephone numbers, home owner symbols, zip codes and new neighbor symbol;

Numerical telephone directory.

The Polk Directory presents a true picture of the growth and prosperity of the area, Gustin said.

Copies may be ordered from Polk at P. O. B. 27546, Richmond, Va. 23261, for $55 plus handling and postage.

PVT ALLEN

Pvt. Broderick F. Allen, stepson of Hazel L. and Rosemary Palude of 330 Fleitas Ave., Pass Christian, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapon infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

ETV Brief

JEKYLL-HYDE

Inspired by a nightmare, Robert Louis Stevenson put pen to paper and produced "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in 1885. He had previously published a number of short stories and the now-classic novel "Treasure Island," but this tale of gothic horror quickly became the Scottish author's first popular success. He had no way of knowing that he had given birth to a theme that would be treated time and time again in numerous stage, screen and television productions.

The latest one, hosted by Vincent Price and starring David Hemmings and Lisa Harrow, can be seen in two parts on "Mystery!" at 9 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 28 and Oct. 5, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

As the doctor, he remains the dignified embodiment of Victorian morality esteemed by society. As Edward Hyde, he becomes the dashing, diabolical hedonist who will stop at nothing.

It will only a few days before the aroma of gumbo will fill the northern part of Hancock County.

Friday will be the beginning of the eighth annual Gumbo Festival at Necaise Crossing and will continue through Sunday night.

Workers have been busy during the past few days getting the last minute details completed for this big event.

L.J. Breaux Jr., president of the Gumbo Festival reports this year's entertainment will be tops.

Among the stars scheduled to perform are The Kennells, John Anderson, Margo Smith, David Frizzell and Shelly West, Jimmy Newman and Allen Fontenot.

Activities begin at 6 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. on both Saturday and Sunday.

Many events are scheduled over the weekend in addition to the top flight entertainment such as gumbo eating and cooking contests, Fais-Do-Do Dancing, Little Beau Pageant, Little Miss Pageant, Queen Contest, and fun and games.

The Gumbo Festival is a non-profit organization with all funds going towards the St. Matthews Catholic Church building fund at Necaise Crossing.

We hope many folks will visit the Gumbo Festival next weekend and enjoy some of the fun.

Breaux urges all festival visitors to please observe the no glass containers allowed on the festival grounds rule.

See you at the Gumbo Festival!

Edgar Perez's photo of the little Pekinese which appeared in Thursday's edition of the Echo prompted more than 100 inquiries in one day, according to the person who found the animal.

The most important call came from the original owners of the dog, the James Ginn family of Dunbar Avenue.

The dog's name is Turkey and he is the pride and joy of James Ginn II, according to his mother.

The pet had been missing since the last week of June when he climbed over a fence during some bad weather.

Mrs. Ginn says Turkey has a habit of leaving home as this was the third time he had gotten away.

The Ginn family really appreciated the special care given to Turkey by the Pass Christian family who found their pet wondering on US-90 in Bay St. Louis.

Firefighters have been busy in Hancock County in recent weeks fighting fires apparently started by arsonists.

Thousands of dollars worth of property has been destroyed and if arson was the cause of these losses, we hope the culprits are caught.

If any citizens has information regarding the recent fires, we urge them to please notify the sheriff's arson squad.

The People's business

ECONOMIC GROWTH
THROUGH EDUCATION

Mississippi's business climate has been widely recognized for its attractiveness to the business world. This is important, for it's through investment for new and expanded business that our state makes the economic strides that are necessary to make a better life for its citizens.

Last week in Jackson, Mississippi's business climate was the subject of an address by a representative of a national firm which surveys business climates in the 48 contiguous states. The survey is based on nearly two dozen categories.

Mississippi, as was reported earlier this year, dropped in the 1981 national ranking from first place to sixth place. This was due to several real reasons, but topping the list of negative factors contributing to the business climate decline were categories involving education.

Specifically, the survey found that Mississippi ranked last nationally in the percentage of adults who have completed high school. It also said that a relatively small number of its citizens were enrolled in public or private vocational education programs.

The survey should be instructional. Through stronger education programs, Mississippi residents will be better educated and better equipped to reach their economic goals in the work force.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

If stores quit advertising couldn't they charge less and therefore help stop inflation? Caught In A Price Squeeze.

Dear CIAPS: At first glance it would seem so, but the answer must be a qualified "no."

While it is true that advertising appears to be an added on expense, it nevertheless reduces the total cost of goods to you.

In any market, volume keeps prices down. And advertising helps build volume.

Look at the market this way—profit per item is not nearly so important as the frequency of turnover.

If a TV dealer who ordinarily sells one TV set per week with a profit of $100, increases his number of sales to three a week by advertising a lower price, who profits?

Answer: A lot of people, including you. You get a lower price on a TV set. The dealer ends up with more net profit (if his markup less ad cost is at least $33.33 each).

Everyone profits as more tax money is generated, more TV sets produced and the newspaper can broaden its services due to the additional income.

Many times in looking at the market we lose sight of the businessman's bottom line. Sometimes they do also.

But simply stated, the bottom line is profit after all expenses; not deal by deal, but overall profit.

The skilled businessman knows how to build volume through advertising and careful pricing to get maximum profit through volume sales.

Some businesses get carried away and cut too much in order to build more and more volume. A few buyers get "bargains" and "steals," but overall everyone loses when a business goes sour. Your warranties are less valuable after any service agreements will be difficult, at best.

Therefore, you would do well to encourage the businesses to promote their goods and services. By doing so they actually save you more money than the promotion costs.

This is especially true during inflationary periods, for with rising costs of operation a manager must attract new business in order to pay the overhead. The alternative is to raise prices, even beyond cost of goods. By building volume the advertising pays its own way, and more.

A while back you wrote a piece on why new businesses fail. One thing you left out is that people don't pay you. I ## Know Because I Went Out Of Business.

Dear OB: Sorry you took it in the chops, but from the looks of your letterhead you're doing all right now.

And you are right. Outstanding accounts receivable at any newspaper are a chronology of over-anxious new businessmen who tried and failed—many because of just the problem you describe.

One reason for this is that the new business person (or the person new to business) is so anxious to get established he takes unnecessary risks and is reluctant to offend customers by pursuing past due accounts.

He may simply be too trusting, but is almost always too reluctant to displease a customer by demanding payment. And, what often appears to be a cavalier approach to business is often interpreted by the purchaser as no pressure on him to be prompt in payment.

Another reason for non-pay and slow pay to new businesses is that, unfortunately, there is a group of consumers in almost every market, who converge, like vultures, on the new boy on the block. Having no intention of paying they exist by feeding on the vulnerability and naivete of the new business person.

But, there are ways to minimize the risk. Number one is don't be over anxious. It would be foolish to treat every customer as if he were a deadbeat. But, if you have charge accounts, don't automatically extend the privilege to everyone who comes in.

Ask if a prospect is going to pay cash, or if he will need terms. If he says he will need terms, make a thorough check before you extend credit.

Previously many stores have limited credit to holders of conventional bank cards to avoid slow accounts and bad checks. But, as you know, credit cards are now under attack in some quarters and may be for some time. There is also every indication that the cards will be harder to get and to keep in the future.

Another aid in collecting is to add interest charges (check for the legal limits in your state) onto past due accounts. Not only can this provide some compensation for your losses and extra costs; it also many times prods the slow payer to save the interest cost. If you don't charge interest, he will pay someone else who does, before he pays you.

Despite the temptation, don't advertise open charge accounts. If they are to be advertised present the charge account as a privilege, for which one qualifies, rather than free to all.

There are deadbeats in any community, but like other villains, they are no worse than their intended victims allow them to be.

Bay seeking contract for 364 gas tie-ins

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Bay St. Louis City Council is seeking bids to hook up 364 residences to some five miles of natural gas lines recently replaced in Bay St. Louis.

Ron Murray of Ron Murray Consultants of Bay St. Louis, a consulting firm hired by the city to administer the 1981 Small Cities Project Community Block Grant of some $1.7 million, Friday said the gas line work is for residences on portions of Washington, Kellar, Sycamore, St. John and deMontuzin Streets and Old Spanish Trail.

Edward Favre, city clerk, told the council at a Tuesday night meeting the gas line tie-ins would be included in legal advertisement seeking bids for a Phase Two gas project in which another five miles of lines will be replaced.

Murray said portions of Central, State and Easterbrook Streets, Necaise Avenue and the streets named in Phase One are included in the upcoming gas line project.

Earlier this month the council requested an opinion from Joseph Gex, city attorney, to see if a change order could be issued in the Phase One project for the tie-ins.

Walter Gex, substituting for Joseph Gex, at the Tuesday meeting said the tie-ins would have to be offered for bids as a new contract and a change order could not be issued.

Gex said an initial verbal opinion of the State Attorney General's office was that the change order would be acceptable, but after further explanation of the project it was decided a new contract was necessary.

Regarding a council investigation of the City Police Department, Catherine Wimbish asked when the officials' formal report of the probe will be released to the public.

Shelton Seuzeneau, a councilman, replied, "Basically, we are through with our investigation and a report will be released, but I don't know when."

In other business at the 7 p.m. meeting at City Hall, the council:

—In a split vote accepted a City Planning and Zoning Commission recommendation to change zoning on a parcel on Blue Meadow Road near Bay Senior High School owned by John C. Pasentine from R-1 to R-2 so he may construct two duplex apartments.

James Thriffille, a councilman, and Harry Farve, council president, opposed the action:

—Approved an Ordinance No. 272 in which the city abandons a unnamed dedicated city street at the Washington Street and Old Spanish Trail intersection;

—Accepted a low $626 bid from Stinson Fence and Construction Co. of Bay St. Louis for erecting a fence around the city's recently completed Harry Street water well;

—Received a letter from Dianne Shabazz commending the city for its work in the Small Cities Project;

—Discussed moving telephone and electric poles for the Main Street widening project;

—Discussed requesting South Central Bell to bury its telephone lines before the street project is completed.

Bearcats hold off Rock-A-Chaws, 20-7

By RANDY PONDER

A spirited bunch of Rock-A-Chaws gave the Long Beach Bearcats all they could handle Friday night, losing 20-7, in a close, exciting high school football contest in Long Beach.

Long Beach started the game losing fumbles on their first two offensive plays. The Rocks could not capitalize on either Bearcat miscue.

The Bearcats pushed across their first touchdown early in the second quarter with an 8 yard pass from quarterback Ronnie Darte to wide receiver Kevin Herfurth to cap a 34 yard drive. Mike Herfurth made the point after touchdown to give his team a 7-0 advantage.

Long Beach quickly doubled their score with a 10 yard strike from Darte to wide receiver Rusty Hammons following a short Rock-A-Chaw punt. Herfurth again booted the PAT.

The Rocks retaliated with a 72 yard touchdown drive on the ensuing kickoff.

Starting on their 28, two running plays netted St. Stanislaus only 5 yards before a third down pass from quarterback Matt Scardino to John Killeen earned the Rocks 4 more plays at the 39.

Following an incomplete pass Scardino fired the ball to Joby LaBruzzo, who made the catch, broke a tackle, eluded several others and raced down the right sideline all the way to the Long Beach 1 yard line.

Killeen scored the touchdown, taking a hand off and diving through the middle. Russ Betcher kicked the PAT as the Rocks ended their 9 quarter scoring drought.

Long Beach put their final points on the boards in the third quarter when quarterback Darte elected to keep the ball and rambled 35 yards for an easy score. The kick failed.

LaBruzzo received the following kick on the 15 and returned it to the Rock 40. From that point St. Stanislaus moved to the Bearcat 14 before an impressive drive fizzled out, with the ball going over on downs at the 9.

With almost the entire fourth period remaining, Long Beach needed to use some time from the clock. Darte was up to the task as he marched the Bearcats ever closer to the Rock goal with a ball control offense using 13 plays before having to punt.

A key penalty helped the Rock-A-Chaws on that drive. An illegal procedure call nullified a pass to Herfurth which carried to the Rock 9. Following the penalty, Long Beach was at mid field and eventually had to give up the football.

St. Stanislaus had 3 more possessions and all 3 ended with pass interceptions.

The Rocks are now 0-4 for the year and will entertain cross town rival Bay High 3-1, Friday night at 7:30 p.m. in a Deep South Conference matchup.

ROOM TO RUN—John Killeen, 11, finds a huge opening and cuts upfield on a punt return as teammates Chuck Varborough, 45, Brett Boulet, 28, and Joby LaBruzzo, 23, provide excellent blocking that allows the speedy back to pick up some good yardage. St. Stanislaus lost the high school football game, 20-7, Friday night to the Bearcats in Long Beach. (Echo photo by Randy Ponder)

Tiger defense roars

Bulldogs nipped 9-6 in double overtime

By BRENT MACEY

A 22 yard field goal by Bay High School place kicker Mark Davis in double overtime Friday night decided a hair raising high school football game in favor of the Tigers, 9-6 over the Vancleave Bulldogs.

The game in Tiger Stadium proved to be a great defensive battle between two hard hitting teams, with two blocked field goals by Tiger Jody Spencer, a strong Bay High goal line defense and an interception by Tiger Michael Proulx in the final seconds all contributing heavily to the Tiger victory.

The Tigers were tested early in the ball game when Vancleave moved the ball to the Tiger one-foot line with fourth down and goal situation.

After receiving a handoff from Bulldog quarterback Phillip McMillan, Bulldog running back Pat Jackson felt the sting of a tough Tiger tackle as Bay High's Randy Bounds and Mark Davis broke the Vancleave defense and dropped Jackson two yards behind the line of scrimmage to give Bay High possession.

Again, in second quarter the Bulldogs were stopped on a fourth down and one-yard situation on the Tiger 24 yard line; this time by a host of Tigers.

At half time the game was scoreless. The Tiger unable to sustain any major drive, and for the most part, defending their own goal.

In the third quarter, Vancleave threatened again, this time a 52 yard drive by Vancleave placed the ball on the Tiger four yard line again in a fourth down and goal situation.

Bulldog placekicker Gary Tibler attempted the field goal but Spencer, the six-foot one-inch lanky Tiger corner back, got a piece of the ball and deflected it wide.

The Tigers took possession on their own 20 yard line after the place kick attempt and moved the ball 80 yards for their first effective drive and only touchdown of the evening.

That score was highlighted by a 48 yard run by Tiger split end Michael Lewis who galloped around the right side of the Vancleave defense and raced to within one foot of the Blue Devil goal line before being tackled.

Tiger quarterback David Mciver did the rest, crashing over center for the Tigers first six points.

Davis missed the extra point attempt to make the score 6-0 with 1:20 left in the third quarter.

Following a Tiger punt in the beginning of the fourth quarter, Vancleave marched the ball 75 yards for their first successful drive of the evening.

Vancleave running back Richard Warren, who posed a threat to the Tigers all night, scampered nine yards on a second down play to cap that scoring march.

With 6:22 left in the game, Tibler tried the PAT, only to find his efforts thwarted again by Spencer who blocked his second kick of the evening.

The ball game ended before either team threatened to score again. The contest was even at 6-6.

The resulting coin toss, to decide who would get the first attempt to score from the 10 yard line in four plays, resulted in the Tigers getting the first opportunity.

Although Bay High moved the ball to within one foot of the goal, the Vancleave defense held strong and kept the Tigers from the endzone.

Now it was Vancleave's chance to score, and they moved the ball to the four yard line to face a fourth and goal situation.

A field goal was all the Bulldogs needed to win, and they set up the kicking tee for the attempt. However, they faked the kick and passed into the endzone.

Tiger Michael Lewis saved the day for Bay High, tipping the pass out of a Bulldog receiver's hands in what appeared to be a certain touchdown.

In the second overtime the Tigers could only move the ball one yard before they faced a fourth and goal situation and decided to go for a field goal.

Davis kicked the ball through the uprights only to have the play called back as a result of a dead ball foul against Vancleave.

The ball was moved five feet closer to the goal and Davis was called on again. This time he booted the pigskin through the uprights from 22 feet out to put the Tigers on top 9-6.

Vancleave took over for the final possession and ran the ball twice for short gainers.

On third down they attempted to pass, but Tiger Mike Proulx snatched the ball away from Vancleave receiver in the endzone to end the ball game.

WINNING FIELD GOAL—Bay High School place kicker Mark Davis pounds a 22 yard field goal through the uprights in Tiger Stadium for what proves to be the winning score of the game in double overtime Friday night. ## Bay Junior High tops Vancleave 6-0

Bay Junior High School defeated Vancleave Junior High School 6-0 in a hard defensive battle.

The young Junior Tigers' record now is 4-0.

Scoring for the Tigers was Willie Lewis on a hand off from Jerry Smith for a 32-yard TD.

The PAT by Stace McRainey failed.

Coach Cleveland Williams and Coach Mike Blaize both reported the Tiger offensive and defensive ball clubs have been doing "a great job."

"We have 33 young men on our squad who contribute to our success," Williams added.

Williams said the young Tigers will host crosstown rival, the SSC Junior Rocks at 7 p.m. Thursday at Tiger Stadium.

Coach Truman Schultz's team is undefeated. He has a good group of football players who have a lot of quickness, said Coach Williams.

"When we clash next Thursday, more than just a rival game is on the line because both teams are undefeated in conference play," the Bay coach added.

Pearlington on short end of Gulfview match

Ronald Doyle and Shawn Powell were selected as most valuable players on offense and defense, respectively, for the Pearlington Boosters Fifth and Sixth Grade football team following a Tuesday encounter with Gulfview's Bulldogs in Lakeshore.

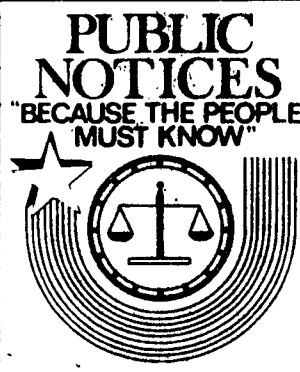

The Bulldogs defeated the Boosters in a high-scoring contest, 38-24.

Pearlington, behind 22-0 in the third quarter, rallied to within six points of the Bulldogs during the period, 30-24.

A tough Bulldog offense posted a final touchdown and two-point conversion in the fourth quarter, closing out the football game at 38-24.

Pearlington takes on Hancock North Central's Fifth and Sixth this week at the C. B. Murphy Elementary School and Gulfview meets North Bay in Bay St. Louis.

Birds bomb Brigands

By EDGAR PEREZ
Hancock North Central Hawks Friday combined a devastating ground attack with a touchdown bomb to blow away the visiting Pass Christian Pirates.

Hawk halfback Lydell Curry contributed 72 yards rushing, halfback Rodney Rester added nine, and Fullback Dennis Lacoste rushed for eight during HNC's first scoring drive early in the first quarter.

Curry picked up the score from the eight. Bobby Beech's kick was low and the Hawks were out front to stay 6-0 with 5:31 left in the first period.

Three minutes later by the official clock, Hawk quarterback Mark Santalla, throwing from his own 40, hit end Cedric Goff at the Pirate 35 and Goff dashed all the way into pay dirt, a 60-yard scoring play.

Beech's second kick was good and the Hawks led 13-0 with 2:40 remaining in the quarter.

The football changed ownership six times during a defensive struggle, waged during the scoreless second period.

Curry broke loose from his own 38 five minutes into the period and went all the way for a score, but the play was nullified by a clipping call against the Hawks.

Hancock's final score came seven minutes into the third period when Santalla scooped up a Pirate fumble at the Pass 30 to run in for the touchdown.

He then hit Curry in the end zone for a two-point conversion, closing out the Hawk scoring for the night at 21.

Hawk fullback Mark Jackson earlier in the period set up a possible Hawk score when he recovered a Pass fumble deep in the visitors territory.

But that drive died under strong pirate defensive pressure generated primarily by the five-member McKay clan.

The Pirate offense, led by quarterback Jamie Jenkins and tailback Ben Fields came alive in the fourth period when the Second Street sailors posted two touchdowns, one with only 16 seconds left in the game.

Hancock posted 10 first downs to eight for the Pirates.

But the hawk rushing statistics show a decidedly more lopsided affair with 191 yards by Hancock to 68 for the Pass.

The Pirates out-passed the Hawks with 80 yards to 50 for the home team.

Jenkins attempted 21 with six completions and two interceptions.

Santalla tossed six times for one completion and two interceptions.

Pass lost three of three fumbles and the Hawks two of two.

Penalties hurt the Hawks to the tune of 85 yards on seven calls, while the Pirates lost 40 yards in six infractions.

Beech punted twice for a 36-yard average while the Pass' David Rogers booted the Pirates out of trouble four times with average kicks of 26 yards.

Pass Ninth Graders win over Hawks, 14-6

Pass Christian's Ninth Grade Pirates grounded the Hawks of Hancock North Central 14-6 in Pirate Stadium Thursday.

Pirate Winston Osborn scored on a 72-yard run in the first quarter. A two-point pass attempt was incomplete.

The Pirates scored again in the third quarter on a 25-yard sweep around left end, followed by a Joey Rogers to Richard Mott conversion pass for the team's 14 point total.

Bret Favre connected with Stanley Jourdan on a 10-yard aerial in the fourth quarter to put the Hawks on the scoreboard with six.

Nathan Davis attempted a run around right end for two but never made it to the end zone.

Hawk halfback Duke Cuevas sustained a torn ligament in his knee and is expected to be sidelined for about three weeks.

Also wounded in the encounter was Hawk Drew Malley who suffered a sprained wrist.

Gulf Coast Council judges discuss State Flower Show

The Gulf Coast Council of Flower Show judges met in the Pass Christian home of Mrs. John G. Drevar Sept. 14. Mrs. John Holmes, Mrs. John Newkirk and Mrs. Jon Brameyer were co-hostesses and served lunch to the council.

Mrs. E. N. Throop, president, conducted the business meeting with the State Flower Show and the Coast Council Flower Show the main topics for discussion.

Mrs. Paul Franke Jr., president of the Mississippi Flower Show Judges Council, elaborated on the plans for the State Flower Show to be held Oct. 8-10 at the Museum of Art in Jackson during the week of the State Fair.

According to Mrs. Franke, the Flower Show schedule is challenging and worthy of the style of the Museum and will be a rare treat for art lovers to observe.

The tri-color classes are free form, abstract and a class of stables. The Creativity Award section includes assemblages, op art and still life classes with the Distinction Award section containing collages, plaques and mobiles.

Mrs. Kenneth Ernst, advance design entry chairman, reported entries are being accepted from over the entire state and much enthusiasm has been generated in anticipation of the event.

Mrs. W. W. Dreher, Flower Show chairman for the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs Flower Show to be held at the Coliseum Oct. 27-29, introduced the beautiful and witty schedule "Flower Go To the Fair" written by Mrs. Thomas Culbreth.

The show will be staged in the Exhibition Hall during the Gulf Coast State Fair and Exposition and is the first time that the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs has attempted a show of this size with Garden Clubs from Jackson County, Harrison County and Hancock County participating.

The various plant societies will be invited to place an exhibit of their specialty plant and at least six special educational exhibits will be featured.

Mrs. Arnold Kietzer, judges chairman, announced the plans for entertaining the visiting judges of the Flower Show.

Mrs. Dreher asked the members' help in encouraging

Bay VFW auxiliary slates cancer education programs

The Theodore S. Price Ladies Auxiliary 3282 to the Veterans of Foreign Wars hosted an ice cream social at the home of member Dena Curvey on September 19.

Mrs. Curvey, cancer aid and research chairman, instructed the group in the first of a series of talks on cancer education.

The BSE examination was presented and each member present was given three pieces of literature to distribute. The auxiliary goal is to reach 300 members of the community.

Among projects of the group are slide presentations on cancer information to be presented by Mrs. Curvey with dates to be announced. Fund raising events will be held to defray the costs of the cancer research program.

Organizations wishing to view the presentation may contact Dena Curvey or Lucille Boudreaux, auxiliary president. Mrs. Boudreaux and Ursula Favre are co-chairmen of this project. The presentation is free, but donations and cancer memorials are accepted.

The Veterans Hospital in Gulfport will host its annual Carnival Oct. 6 at 6 p.m. at the Gulfport V.A. Center. The Bay auxiliary will man the sweet booth, with Mrs. Boudreaux and Mrs. Favre as co-chairmen. Members are asked to contact them for donations of cake, fudge, pies or cookies.

The District I meeting will be held Sunday, Oct. 10 at 1 p.m. in the Alfred Alleman Post 2539 at Gulfport. William F. Mitzel, Commander, and Mary M. Ryan, District President will conduct the business sessions.

All post and auxiliary members are urged to attend the important meeting. Topics of discussion will be Veterans benefits including V.A. Hospitals, the medical care system, "veteran preference" hiring, regional National Cemeteries and the elimination of upright headstones now furnished by the Veterans Administration.

The Ocean Springs auxiliary and Post 5699 will host a homecoming for Department President Janice White on October 16 at 6 p.m.

U.S. Rep. Trent Lott will be guest speaker. Dept. Legislative Chairman Lucille Boudreaux is sponsor of this segment. Members are encouraged to attend.

Norma Bonney, Dept. membership chairman, will accept transmittals for membership. Mississippi leads the nation in this field at 46 percent.

The next auxiliary meeting will be Oct. 13 at 8 p.m. at the Post home on St. John Street. Dist. I. President Mary Margaret Ryan will make her official visit at this time.

The Council meeting will be held at the Regency Hotel in Jackson Sept. 25-26. Guy Thornton, Dept. Commander, and Janice White will preside.

President Boudreaux, Ursula Favre and Dena Curvey are sponsoring a Christmas bazaar and members are asked to donate three articles. The time and place will be announced.

The auxiliary is also accepting donations to the Danny Thomas Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. Memorials may also be made.

REBECCA (DINELL) BURGE

NHCU patients entertained by Pass VFW auxiliary

The ladies auxiliary to Central Hospital and Nursing Home (NHCU) hosted a pool tournament at the VA Hospital in Gulfport Sept. 21. Ten men from the Nursing Home Care Unit participated in the event.

Mary Fedele and Jean Toth served refreshments of cookies and punch. They also gave prizes for the first and second place winners and the runner-ups.

First District Junior Vice David Cummins was a guest. Kitty Callahan was the therapist in charge.

These two auxiliary members also brought dietetic cookies and diet drinks to the patients who stayed in the ward.

Gulfport psychologist explores reluctance of people to seek help

By SUSANNAH ANDREWS

Why is it so difficult for some people to ask for help when they really need it?

There are jokes about the husband who would not stop at a filling station for directions to an unknown address, but instead would drive around with wife and family for hours saying, "I can find it. I know it's around here somewhere." These may be jokes, but there is a good deal of truth in these caricatures.

Especially when it comes to seeking professional psychological help, many people are reluctant to ask questions until the situation has become critical.

Even when the situational factors are severe, including cases of suicide attempts or clinical depression, often the significant other people involved refuse to admit that they or their family may need help.

There seems to be a general feeling, especially among the men in the families, that they should be able to solve all of their problems themselves.

If I decided that I had no need of attorneys (that only criminals needed to pay someone else to defend them because they must have something to hide) then I would be in big trouble walking into the courtroom unless I had concluded extensive training and education myself as to the rules of evidence and law.

Yet, many people believe that the only people who need psychological help are crazy people. This is similar in logic to the statement that only criminals need lawyers. It simply is not true.

Psychologists, psychiatrists, and licensed clinical social workers, as well as other psychotherapists in different areas of specialization, have spent years and years under careful training, education, and supervision to study human behavior and the most effective ways of dealing with a wide variety of problems.

The most upsetting aspects of this reluctance to contact appropriate help are twofold: the first is clearly that some individuals who need help receive it too late, or never at all; and secondly, many people who eventually do seek help arrive in the therapist's office with a tremendous guilt complex, either because they feel inadequate in not having been able to solve the problems by themselves, or because someone close to them (parent, spouse) believes them to be inadequate because they "had to seek help."

There actually is a stigma that some people attach to those who are not able to solve all of their own problems.

If all aspects of human communication and behavior were so easy, I wonder why so many different areas of study would have developed along those lines.

Some of the few innovations of the study of psychology include:

—Behavior modification, used in all milieu therapy treatment facilities for psychiatric patients as well as with discipline problems, prisoner reform, mental retardation, learning of all types;

—Biofeedback, used currently with cancer treatment and research, stress reduction, pain control;

—Learning theory, used in human and animal research, computer programming and computer teaching systems, and again in the clinical setting with discipline problems within families;

—And the treatment of schizophrenia with specific treatment approaches in addition to chemotherapy.

These are only a drop in the bucket of the scientific research areas that are being explored and explained daily in the fields of psychology and psychiatry.

Another vast area is social psychology, including industrial and management psychology with organizations, as well as conflict resolution among our world nations.

If our problems were easily solved by all of us, there would be no need for all of these burgeoning areas of specialized study in human motivation and behavior.

The wisest of people and the most successful in life and in business will all tell you that knowing where to find the answers is critical to success.

Rather than driving all over a neighborhood looking for an address that is completely foreign to me, I would prefer to seek advice and cut my time "lost" by as much as possible.

Most of us do not enjoy being lost, and when there are people around who have spent years studying one subject that is confusing to me and causing me to be personally "lost," I would prefer to simply consult and find out what I may not know.

Working in the people business exposes the professional psychotherapist to a wide variety of common human problems in a concentrated time period.

For this reason, the psychotherapist has both education and practical experience from which to draw. A good friend can contribute nourishment and advice in many situations. However, this is not a reasonable or intelligent substitute for professional advice.

We are all, to some extent, afraid of the unknown. Historically, many people have even been afraid of new knowledge, for fear that our secure (but perhaps backwards or destructive) patterns of living and behaving will be jeopardized.

A clear example would be the case of Galileo's discoveries in the scientific world.

Instead of embracing new knowledge from which mankind would gain tremendous rewards, his contemporaries threatened him with imprisonment and alienation.

Why are we afraid of simple knowledge? One answer is that when we gain new knowledge, we also assume new personal responsibilities.

Perhaps we will fail in trying to make positive change.

For those of you who have the courage, new information along with some help in putting it into practice, can be the beginning of a new relationship, family, or individual lifestyle.

Entrants sought in Miss Mississippi Teen USA pageant

Applications are now being accepted from throughout Mississippi for the 1983 Miss Mississippi Teen USA Pageant to be held in Biloxi. The event will be hosted at the Royal d'Iberville Hotel on the beach, December 4, 1982.

The Miss Mississippi Teen USA Pageant is an official Miss Teen USA contest.

There is no "performing talent" requirement; all judging is on the basis of poise, personality and beauty. Applicants who qualify must be between the ages of 14 and 17, never have been married and must have resided in the State of Mississippi for at least six months. All girls interested in competing for the title must write to: Miss Mississippi Teen USA Pageant Headquarters, P.O. Box 1662, Gulfport, Ms 39501, telephone (601) 868-1210. Letters must include a recent snapshot, a brief biography, and a telephone number.

The girl chosen as Miss Mississippi Teen USA will receive an all-expense paid trip to the site of the Miss Teen USA Pageant which will take place early in 1983. The new winner will also receive many valuable prizes, including a new wardrobe and a color television set.

Application deadline is October 15, 1982.

FIRST BIRTHDAY — Abbie Favre, daughter of Kim and Charlene Favre of Waveland, celebrated her first birthday August 14 with a party in the Gulf National Bank civic room. She is the granddaughter of Milton and Agnes Favre and Bert and Roland Nacaise. Friends and relatives attended.

ETV Brief

SERIES RETURN
Fans of the BBC's "Doctor Who" series need worry no longer. When the Doctor's ship, the TARDIS, shuttles into the sunset, figuratively speaking, and the series comes to a close on Friday, Sept. 24, it's not good-bye forever—only for the weekend. For as surely as the Doctor bids farewell to "himself" in the final episode of "Logopolis" on Friday, the series "regenerates" itself and begins all over again with "Robot" on Monday, Sept. 27.

The entire, seven-season package of "Doctor Who" programs starring Tom Baker—all 172 half hours with Baker as the Doctor—will be broadcast for the third time on the Mississippi ETV Network in its regular 6 p.m., weekdays time slot.

Baker stars as the comical, genius, good-guy Time Lord from the planet of Gallifrey who travels through time and space sorting out intergalactic problems, saving planets and promoting truth, honor and humor all along the way, although never without stumbling upon interstellar battles, bumbling over sensitive toes and fumbling with futuristic gadgets that just happen to always be in his bottomless pockets, under his floppy hat or in the form of his endless wool scarf.

"Doctor Who" is reportedly the longest running television series of its kind in the world. The 1963-83 TV season will mark its 20th consecutive year on the BBC. It is telecast in 30 countries and has amassed a cult following of some 98 million avid, manic fans around the world.

The series debuted on the BBC on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 23, 1963, with the late actor William Hartnell as the Doctor. Harnell was followed by actors Patrick Troughton and Jon Pertwee, respectively, in the title role, but it wasn't until former-monk-turned-actor Tom Baker took over the lead in the BBC's 174-75 season that popularity surged in the United States.

After six years in a monastery in Jersey, Channel Islands, Tom Baker left the priesthood to pursue a career in acting.

While acting in a repertory company in York, England, playing the part of a dog, he was spotted by a director of the National Theatre.

This produced an offer from Sir Laurence Olivier to become a National Theatre player and a first starring role as a horse.

Baker had already played the bear in "A Winter's Tale" and was nervous of type-casting.

His qualms were unfounded because he later advanced to play recognizable human beings in a number of British theater and film productions before embarking on the TARDIS in 1974.

He served as the Doctor longer than any other actor. At the conclusion of the BBC's 1980-81 season, he bowed out to pursue other projects and has recently been in production as Sherlock Holmes for a four-part BBC series, "The Hounds of the Baskervilles."

After he left "Doctor Who," the lead was relegated to actor Peter Davison whose portrayal of the Doctor in his first season on the BBC, 1981-82, garnered high ratings on British television. The Davison series is not yet available to American audiences.

Mississippi ETV's telecast of the "Doctor Who" series begins with a story called "Robot" when Pertwee's incarnation expires and the Doctor is "regenerated" in the form of the needlewitted Baker.

Pertwee's traveling companion, Sarah, portrayed by Elisabeth Sladen, remains as Baker's companion also, to be followed by Lella (Louise Jameson) and Romana (Mary Tamm) and later portrayed by Lalla Ward, Baker's former wife.

Legal secretaries meet in Greenville

Ilyne Stewart, Rita Smith and Denise Faucett, all of Gulfport, members of the Harrison-Hancock Counties Legal Secretaries Association attended the state association's fall board meeting this month at the Riverview Inn in Greenville.

An all day seminar was conducted with a Showboat Revue banquet that night.

A board of governors meeting was held the following day.

Stewart is first vice president of MALS and Smith and Faucett each hold a state committee chairmanship.

The next board meeting will be held Jan. 14-16 in Jackson.

GOUBURN LADNER — celebrated his 76th birthday August 8, at the home of his son E. J. Ladner in Bayou Caddy.

Space Day to include art competition

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Martin Marietta Aerospace are sponsoring "Space Day '82 in New Orleans," an open house at the NASA Michoud Assembly Facility on Saturday, Oct. 16 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The Michoud Assembly Facility is located in eastern New Orleans at 13800 Old Gentilly Road.

Historical space artifacts, exhibits and other items which relate to the United States space program will be on display at the world's largest aerospace production facility where the massive external tank, structural backbone of the Space Shuttle, is built.

Visitors will get to meet astronauts, see the external tank in production, and see exhibits including "Jupiter and its Moons," on loan from the Smithsonian Institution's Air and Space Museum.

The exhibit features a model of the Voyager spacecraft and 31 of its stunning photographs of Jupiter, its moons and Saturn.

Other displays include a moon rock brought back by Apollo astronauts; a full-scale model of the Viking space craft, built by Martin Marietta, which landed on Mars in 1976; a 20-foot tall model of the Space Shuttle; Apollo spacecraft and Saturn Rocket models; over 100 films on aviation, space travel and the universe, shown at three theaters, and much more.

In addition, representatives of the Smithsonian Institution's education division will be present to provide teachers with information regarding special educational materials available for their use courtesy of Martin Marietta.

NASA and Martin Marietta also are sponsoring an art contest in conjunction with "Space Day '82 in New Orleans."

All Louisiana and Mississippi students to age 18 are eligible. Topics should be space or space-flight related. Additional information is available at all area schools. Deadline for entries is Oct. 1. Winners will receive a Space Shuttle model, signed by the astronauts.

New Orleans Mayor Ernest N. Morial and Louisiana Governor David C. Treen have proclaimed Oct. 16 "Space Day '82 in New Orleans."

They, along with NASA and Martin Marietta, invite the public to this open house to celebrate Louisiana's role in the past, present and future of the United States space program.

For further information call Evan McColm, David Perl, or Marion LaNasa at (504) 255-3788, 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Story Hour titles told

Story Hour is presented every Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis Library. This service is provided by the Hancock County Library System for 3 to 6-year-olds.

This week's story hour is just for fun. "The Wild Baby" by Jack Prelutsky and "The Day Jimmy's Boa Ate The Wash" by Trinka Hakes Noble are the books to be read.

"I'm A Little Teapot," a physical activity, will be taught between stories.

"The Great Big Turnip," a flannel board story, will also be presented.

The program will conclude with a film adaptation of "Where the Wild Things Are" by Maurice Sendak, according to Becky Mitchum, children's librarian.

Disease control essential to wheat-state's third largest crop

By JIMMY BONNER
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

CLARKSDALE

Mississippi wheat farmers, gearing for another potentially large wheat crop this fall, are trying to avoid a repeat in last year's crop when diseases cost growers an estimated $15 million in lost production.

Planting crop varieties resistant to the diseases is the best way farmers can avoid such a repeat, a Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service plant disease specialist said.

Dr. Tom Blasingame, a plant pathologist with the Extension Service, said selecting disease-resistant varieties may be the most important decision wheat farmers make this fall.

Blasingame stressed the importance of selecting varieties on the basis of resistance to wheat diseases. The meeting was the first of a series of wheat production meetings conducted across the state by the Extension Service this season.

"It's extremely important to select the right variety," Blasingame said. "Tests show that wheat varieties differ greatly in their ability to resist diseases."

Blasingame said three major diseases—wheat leaf rust, powdery mildew, and septoria disease—last year cost wheat growers in the state an estimated $15 million in reduced yields.

State farmers last fall seeded a record million acres of wheat, but a heavy disease outbreak this spring reduced yields about eight bushels per acre below record levels in 1981.

The diseases, caused by fungi, reduce crop yields by damaging leaves and other plant parts which in turn produce less grain.

Blasingame said selecting varieties with disease resistance is essential because growers can't depend on disease-inhibiting fungicides to control all major wheat diseases in the state.

Fungicides are effective on powdery mildew and septoria," Blasingame said. "But the only effective way to control rust is by using resistant varieties."

Blasingame said rust is the most severe wheat disease problem in the state, once the fungus is established, it can't be controlled using chemicals that kill other fungus diseases.

Blasingame said the rust disease is especially difficult to control because it gradually builds up resistance to the disease. Blasingame said there are more than 200 races of the fungus.

"The fungus changes genetically every year," Blasingame said. "In three to five years, resistant varieties break down and lose their resistance to the disease."

Wheat leaves infested with rust have a flaky, rusty appearance. The disease is transmitted to wheat crops by wind.

Blasingame said the heavy disease outbreak this spring was caused by farmers planting too many acres of susceptible varieties and by a wet spring that favored the disease development.

Diseases, favored by warm, humid conditions, are considered the primary threat to high wheat yields in Mississippi. The crop is relatively insect-free because it grows in cool weather.

Dry weather and cool temperatures are credited by officials with producing record statewide average wheat yields of almost 40 bushels per acre in 1981.

Blasingame said powdery mildew, although severe in some cases, usually is not as damaging as the rust disease. Powdery mildew covers wheat leaves with a powdery white growth.

"The disease usually looks worse than the damage it causes," Blasingame said. "But in severe infestations, fungicide application is required."

Blasingame said fungicides control many wheat diseases and increase yields if they are applied early. But he said applications often are made too late to check diseases.

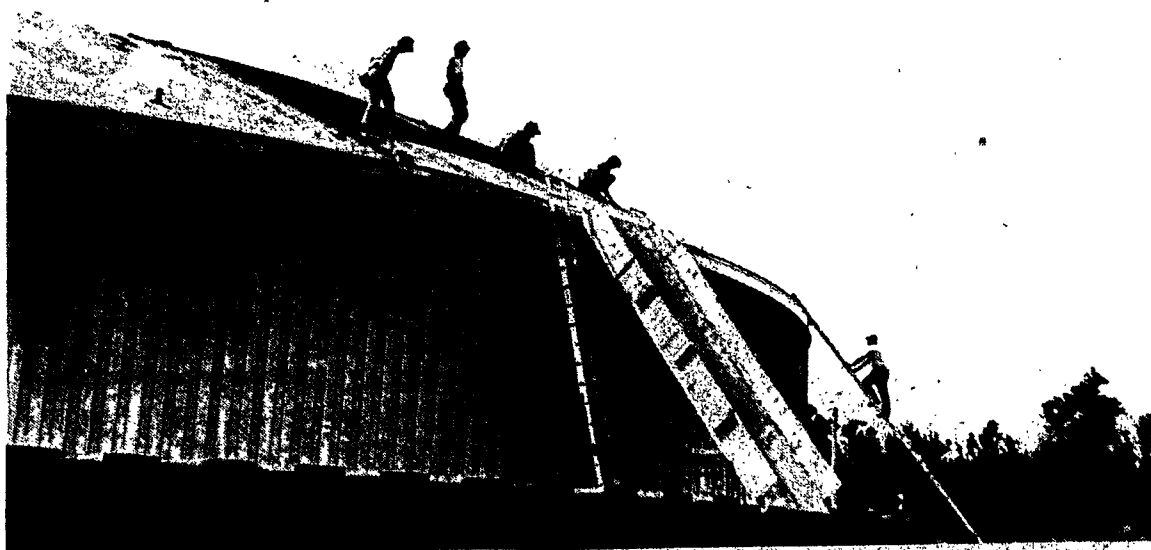

Septoria, also a major disease, appears as dark areas in golden maturing wheat. The disease produces smaller grain which is lost during harvesting.

Blasingame said because diseases aren't equally severe in all parts of the state, farmers may be able to reduce disease control costs by monitoring crops before applying fungicides.

Wheat planting this fall is expected to be 800,000 acres or more as farmers look to offset poor soybean profits. Many farmers plant wheat on their land following soybean harvest.

Farmers begin planting in early October and like to finish by late November to increase the chances of achieving high yields.

Wheat production in recent years in the state has grown from little importance as a cash crop to the state's third largest crop acreage in 1981 behind soybeans and cotton.

NEW ROOF FOR TIGER DOME—The Tiger Dome at Bay Senior High is currently being re-roofed by United Roofing and Construction, Inc. of Laurel. J.D. McCulloch, superintendent of education for the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District, reports United was the successful bidder and should complete the task next week. The old roof, installed when the facility was constructed some 16 years ago, was leaking, according to McCulloch who said the new roof cost is $26,668. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

European Space Agency, NASA select Spacelab-1 mission specialists

The European Space Agency (ESA) and NASA have named their prime and backup payload specialists for the first Spacelab mission, SL-1, scheduled for launch on Sept. 30, 1983, on STS-9.

ESA has assigned Ulf Merbold, a German physicist, and NASA has assigned Byron K. Lichtenberg, a biomedical engineer, as onboard payload specialists.

The second European, Wubbo J. Ockels, a Dutch physicist, and the second American, Michael Lampton, a physicist, will act as flight back-ups and will be deeply involved with the payload operations from the ground throughout the duration of the mission.

The Spacelab-1, STS-9 crew thus consists of Ulf Merbold and Byron Lichtenberg, payload specialists, Owen Garriott and Bob Parker, mission specialists, and John Young and Brewster Shaw, commander and pilot respectively.

Merbold and Lichtenberg will perform experiments aboard the Spacelab using 38 different scientific packages (experiments and experiment facilities) both inside the habitable module and on the pallet.

In this role, they will represent more than 70 different scientific investigators from Europe, Japan and the United States.

The Spacelab 1 mission experiments were developed by scientific institutes in the ESA member states, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and in Japan and the United States.

Since January, 1982 the payload specialists have been undergoing mission operational training in the Payload Crew Training Facility at the NASA Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., where they are faced with operational situations very similar to those they will encounter during the Spacelab-1 flight.

They are, in this way, gaining considerable experience before the launch thus ensuring a maximum scientific return from the flight. The Marshall Center is responsible for overall management of the first mission.

In December 1977, ESA selected Ulf Merbold, Germany, Claude Nicollier, Switzerland, and Wubbo Ockels, the Netherlands, as payload specialist candidates from among some 2,000 European applicants.

Since January 1978, they have been preparing for the Spacelab-1 mission.

During their training, which has been carried out in Europe, Japan and in the United States, the payload specialists have acquired an in-depth knowledge of the individual experiments comprising the first Spacelab payload and will thus be in a position to operate and monitor them closely and to execute minor repairs or adjustments which may be required during the flight.

During this period, Claude Nicollier was assigned to undertake mission specialist training and, as a result, was no longer considered a European payload specialist.

He is now a candidate for a mission specialist position on the German Spacelab mission, D-1, scheduled for launch in mid-1985.

In May 1978, Michael Lampton, University of California at Berkeley, and Byron Lichtenberg, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, were selected by the Spacelab 1 Investigators Working Group (IWG), to be the American payload specialists.

DUSTI BONGE—Working in her paint-stained coveralls is how abstract artist Dusti Bonge of Biloxi spends a great deal of her time. Mrs. Bonge is profiled in a special Mississippi ETV production, "Dusti Bonge, The Life of an Artist," at 8 p.m., Wednesday, October 6, on the Mississippi ETV Network. Mrs. Bonge, whose works have been shown at the Museum of Modern Art, Whitney Museum, Betty Parsons Gallery and others in New York as well as in various local and regional shows, talks about her life and her career in the program and is shown at work on a new painting. The program will be rebroadcast at 1 p.m., Sunday, October 10.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." —John 10:10

By Shaun Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

The value of a Christian education is clearly seen in the following quotation from an English teacher.

"I have taught in high school for ten years. During that time I have given assignments, among others, to a murderer, an evangelist, a pugilist, a thief, and an imbecile.

"The murderer was a quiet little boy who sat on the front seat and regarded me with pale blue eyes; the evangelist, easily the most popular boy in the school, had the lead in the junior play; the pugilist lounged by the window and let loose at intervals a raucous laugh that startled even the geraniums; the thief was a gay-hearted lothario with a song on his lips; and the imbecile, a soft-eyed little animal seeking the shadows.

The murdered waits death in the state penitentiary; the evangelist has lain a year now in the village churchyard; the pugilist lost an eye in a brawl in Hong Kong; the thief, by standing on tiptoe, can see the window of my room from the county jail; and the once gentle-eyed little moran beats his head against a wall in the state asylum.

"All of these pupils once sat in my room, sat and looked at me gravely across worn brown desks. I must have been a great help to those pupils—I taught them the rhyming scheme of the Elizabethan sonnet and how to diagram a complex sentence."

While there is certainly a time and place for the teaching of Elizabethan sonnets and the diagramming of sentences we should learn a valuable lesson from the preceding testimony.

The greatest gift that any educator, parent or teacher, can give his or her student is not simply a few facts that they may or may not remember the next day; rather it is the development of healthy attitudes through the practical application of these facts.

The mere impartation of knowledge is not enough. We must live that which we preach and teach. Those whom we would seek to influence for Christ must see a glimpse of Him living in us.

The following saying says it best. "The mediocre teacher tells. The good teacher explains. The superior teacher demonstrates. The great teacher inspires!"

"Lord, make our lives a source of inspiration to our families and friends."

THE MORMONS

Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints

James Hayes of the High Council of the Hattiesburg State of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints was principal speaker at a recent sacrament meeting of the Pearlington Branch.

He named things which might be held as false "gods."

"The first of these," Hayes said, "is TV."

He feels many prime-time TV programs during the early evening hours when children are most likely to be watching are "becoming more and more flesh-oriented."

"Are we aware of what our children are watching on TV? The responsibility and the pleasure should be ours to govern the things that we and our children watch."

"Buying and selling on Sunday," was second on Hayes' list.

He suggested that all shopping be done during the week or on Saturday, "thus allowing those employed by marketing concerns to have the opportunity to observe the Sabbath as the Lord intended."

Hayes conceded some jobs require work on Sunday to provide "life and death services" such as firefighters and doctors.

He feels, however, that buying and selling on Sunday is not a necessity of life.

As the third thing, Hayes said that many tend to put work and pleasure ahead of the needs of loved ones.

He said, "We should take the time to evaluate these points, put a value on them, and use them as tools to work for us, not against us."

To overcome these "evil gods" Hayes suggested increased active missionary work, regular individual scripture study, magnifying of church callings, and putting an end to gossip and fault finding.

He quoted several scriptures on these points and stated "the Apostle James made it very clear that if we know what is right and fail to do it, we have sinned."

Hayes then challenged his listeners to set the proper example in all things for their children and to set their goals for the very highest degree of the celestial kingdom.

Accompanying Hayes and also speaking to the group was Russell K. Kline of Picayune who discussed "Thw World Today."

Kline began his discussion by referring to conditions which existed in ancient times.

"Nothing has changed," he said, "We have the same shortcomings. The only thing is we have more of them."

He said people of ancient times "foolishly ignored the words of their prophets" and as a result "the Lord brought to them disease, famine and pestilence."

"We are in no better condition today with worldwide inflation, pestilence, the nuclear arms race, energy shortages, pollution, violent crime, and international terrorism."

After quoting several scriptures, Kline stated, "The end of the world is near, but no one knows when that will come. Today's world is reserved for the day of judgment and of the destruction of the ungodly."

In answer to his own question of "How can we deal with the crises we face today?" Kline said "we must start at home—we must change our way of living."

He said, "We must repent of our wrongdoings, live all of the commandments, follow the golden rule as Jesus taught in his Sermon on the Mount, be honest in all our family and business dealings, speak the truth at all times no matter what the consequences, help the poor and the needy, take care of the sick, comfort the sorrowing, and give aid to the down-trodden."

In conclusion Kline said, "Stand up for the Lord in all places and at all times. At no time should we compromise. There are no exclusion clauses in the scriptures. Today's conditions are a lot worse than in the ancient days. If we are to live with our Heavenly Father and Jesus Christ someday, we must prepare now. What peace and harmony they will experience who reach the celestial kingdom!"

Hayes is a resident of Picayune where he has served twice as a counselor to the bishop and as bishop himself for five years.

He is presently fulfilling a calling as a member of the High Council of the Hattiesburg Stake where he serves as a member of the Aaronic Priesthood Committee and as an auditor and purchasing agent for the stake.

Kline, who is also from the Picayune area, served as a counselor to Hayes during his term as Bishop of the Picayune Ward.

Some of the other positions he has held included Sunday school superintendent and executive secretary.

There's An Answer

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE and RUTH STAFFORD PEALE

Friendly but scared

Q. I am a girl who has been seeing a guy for about a year. From the first date we had an understanding that our relationship would be friendly, not romantic.

His ideas changed, and he claims to be in love with me. He treats me good with the exception of lying to impress me, and he just will not give me any time to do things with other people. Now he is in serious trouble with the law, and this scares me.

He is hurting, and I hate to desert him when he needs a friend so badly. Can I help him when he won't accept me as only a friend? I'm concerned about him, but I just don't feel love for him.

A. Our opinion is that you will be much better off if you discontinue the relationship with this man. His hurting is of his own doing, and if he is ever going to be strong it will be good for him to handle trouble on his own.

We are inclined to believe that you will only bring heartache on yourself by holding to the false notion about deserting him. Leave him and get some new friends.

Perhaps you will find help in our booklet "You can Overcome Any Problem" which is on its way to you. Any reader wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564.

Friends make fun

Q. I am a widow, 73 years-old and hard of hearing. I have lady friends that I enjoy, but when I go out with all of them they make me nervous. They talk too loud and at times tell me my hearing aid is whispering. When I don't hear their questions right and answer wrong they laugh at me.

They are also always talking about others and making fun of them. It seems widows always want to go in groups, but I enjoy just one person. But I am afraid what others will say when they see me with just one person and not the whole group. What can I do or say to feel free to go with whomever I want?

A. Take yourself as you are and be less sensitive. Laugh with your friends. Indeed go one better and get the laugh on yourself first.

Outlaugh them. One of the surest ways to be miserable is to care too much about what others think. Just be yourself in a nice friendly way and you will get along fine.

Your friends are rude who make fun of another's physical handicap, and perhaps you should find more understanding friends. Also have your hearing aid checked from time to time to keep it in its best working condition.

On October 20 1980 Fortune Magazine devoted the major part of six pages to a description of the revolutionary Merrill Lynch Cash Management Account financial service that lets you control your money in these five ways
1 Idle funds invested automatically. Any cash is automatically invested to earn daily compounded dividends at current money market rates. You may elect to invest it in the CMA Money Fund, Tax Exempt Fund or Government Securities Fund.
2 Check-writing privilege. While Merrill Lynch is not a bank, you may write checks against all your invested cash at any time, anywhere in the world. Checking and VISA services are provided by Bank One of Columbus, NA.
3 Loan privileges. There's a standing line of credit available based on the value of the securities in your account.

4 Special VISA card. Provides instant cash at 80,000 banks worldwide. Accepted in 152 countries with a line of credit based on the value of the securities in the account.
5 Unequaled convenience. One easy-to-read monthly statement from one source, summarizing all the account activities at a glance: securities transactions, checks, VISA card charges, etc.
These are just the highlights. If you have $20,000 in cash and/or securities to invest, we invite you to get the full story about the unique Merrill Lynch Cash Management Account at this free seminar. Reserve early by calling or mail coupon.

Blueberry producers to meet in Hattiesburg

Persons interested in growing blueberries for commercial production are invited to a blueberry production meeting in Hattiesburg Oct. 1. The meeting will focus on ways to increase blueberry production and also will establish the Mississippi-Louisiana Blueberry Growers Association, according to Dr. Richard Mullenax, a horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. at the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. on Hwy. 98 West. William Brundage, manager of Blueberry Plantation Ltd. of Hattiesburg, will be the featured speaker. The firm is interested in increasing blueberry production, processing and marketing. Mullenax said blueberry production can be a profitable enterprise especially appealing to growers with limited acreage and those who want to diversify their crop production.

County Agent's Notes

By John Smith

FORESTRY MEETINGS

There will be series of meetings free to any timber landowners, producers, and others who are interested in learning about the business of timber management.

A woodland management seminar - "Growing Timber For A Profit" - will be conducted Tuesday and Thursday, in the Entex Building, Gulfport from 7-9 p.m.

All timber owners in counties of Forrest, George, Greene, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Lamar, Pearl River and Stone are invited to attend.

Some topics to be discussed Tuesday will include:

(1) Forestry Outlook for Mississippi (wood demands for the future and effects on the private landowner).

(2) Timber as an investment (expected financial returns from owning timberland and how to make growing timber more profitable).

(3) Timber production practices (how to produce more timber per acre and maintain what you have).

(4) Questions and answers. At Thursday night's meeting topics will include:

(1) Costs and revenues of timber practices (costs associated with regeneration, management, stand improvement and roads; revenues you can expect from timber yields, hunting rights, Christmas trees and recreation; cost-share payments).

(2) Steps to a good timber sale (tips on timing the sale, measuring timber to determine volumes, marketing, and contracts).

(3) Tax advantages (the new tax laws as related to capital gains, investment tax credit, and depreciation designed to save tax dollars).

(4) Questions and answers.

FORESTRY FIELD DAY

The first annual Southeast Mississippi Forestry Field Day will be held on Oct. 11 at Lake Toot-O-Leen, west of Wiggins, Miss. on Highway 26 in Stone County. This year's theme is "Invest in Your Future - Manage Your Woodland For A Profit." Mr. Robert S. (Sid) Moss will be the keynote speaker for the platform program.

The Field Day will begin with registration at 9 a.m., followed by a forest management demonstration bus tour. A free lunch will be provided to all participants in the Field Day activities. Also, door prizes will be drawn.

To get to the Field Day, turn west off Highway 49 onto Highway 26 at Wiggins and travel 9.2 miles to Lake Toot-O-Leen; or take Interstate 59 to the Poplarville exit and turn east onto Highway 26 and travel 10.2 miles.

If you plan to attend, please call your county agent so we will know how many meals to have ready. Come learn how you can get the most out of your timberland.

FIELD DAY

The annual Ornamental Horticulture Field Day will be held at the South Mississippi Research and Extension Center, Poplarville Thursday, Oct. 7 starting at 8:30 a.m.

Some topics will be discussed are: controlling plant pests in nursery and greenhouse, updating disease control measures fighting persistent insects, reducing weed problems, description and summary of ornamental horticulture research, greenhouse structures and heating.

A Dutch luncheon will be served at the college cafeteria. Assemble at research area with tour of plots.

Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Wooden golf tees did not catch on until 1922, two years after Dr. William Lowell, a New Jersey dentist, patented a small red peg with a concave top called the "Reddy Tee." By 1940 there were more than 150 U.S. patents on golf tees.
